

American Community Survey is currently only available for geographic areas with populations of 20,000 or more. For areas with a population less than 20,000, five-year estimates will be available. The first five-year estimates, based on ACS data collected from 2005 through 2009, will be released in 2010.